Arrangement

This collection has been arranged by provenance and divided into two sub-fonds; Caroline Skeel, and Family Papers.

Administrative History

SKEEL , CAROLINE ANNE JAMES (1872 - 1951) was born on the 9 Feb. 1872 in Hampstead , where her family resided at 45 Downshire Hill. She was the sixth of the seven children; one son and six daughters (two died in infancy) of William James Skeel (1822 - 1899) and Anne James, his wife (1831 - 1895). Her father, the son of Henry Skeel (d. 1847), a farmer, was born at Castle Hill in the parish of Haycastle, Pembrokeshire, and became a successful London merchant with offices in Finsbury Chambers in the city and a director of the South Australian Land Mortgage and Agency Co. Ltd . Her mother was a first cousin of her husband; the daughter of Thomas and Martha James of Clarboston, Pembrokeshire.

Initially educated at home, from the age of eight Caroline attended a private school; the South Hampstead High School (c.1884-87). She then attended Notting Hill High School (1887-90). Following this she entered Girton College, Cambridge (1891-95). She was a St. Dunstan's Exhibitioner and took a double first in classics in 1894. She then took a first in the historical tripos, in 1895. She was awarded the Agnata Butler Prize in 1893 and 1894, and the Thérèse Montefiore Memorial Prize in 1895.

Skeel joined Westfield in 1896 as a visiting lecturer in classics, but was soon also placed in charge of the history department and drew on both disciplines in her first original work, Travel in the First Century after

PP11 CAROLINE SKEEL AND FAMILY

Christ (Cambridge, 1901), which won Girton's Gibson prize in 1898. But it was history that prevailed, as shown by her enrolment in 1901 as a postgraduate student at the London School of Economics to work on the dissertation, The Council in the Marches of Wales: a study in local government in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries (London, 1904), which in 1904 earned her the Hutchinson medal and in 1903 the London D.Litt. At Westfield she combined a heavy teaching programme with responsibility from 1902 for the college library, attracting gifts in kind from learned societies and others which substantially improved its stock; in her role as a recognized teacher of London University, she served from 1902 to 1906 as secretary to the board of studies in history.

She wrote a number of articles and reviews in English Historical Review, Archaeologia Cambrensis, Transactions of the Honourable Society of Cymmrodorion, Transactions of the Royal Historical Society, Shropshire Archaeological and Natural History Society, History, and Cambridge Historical Journal, most of which deal with the history of Wales and the Marches. She contributed a chapter on Wales under Henry VII to Tudor Studies, ed. R.W. Seton-Watson (1924), and to T. Auden, Memorials of Old Shropshire (1908). She gained the Gamble Prize in 1914 for an essay on the influence of the writings of Sir John Fortesque. She was also one of the editors of the S.P.C.K. texts for students and arranged the Selections from Giraldus Cambrensis and the Selections from Matthew Paris, Nos. 2-3 in that series (London 1918).

The onset in 1907 of severe and lasting depression removed Skeel, though only temporarily, from the academic scene, to which she eventually returned on her reappointment to Westfield in 1911. Promoted in 1919 to a university readership, Skeel was able to contribute in various ways to the success of a new venture close to her heart, the Institute of Historical Research. She was a Fellow of the Royal Historical Society 1914-28, serving on the Council and the Publications Committee 1921-27, and a member of the Cymmrodorion Society, the Classical Association and the Historical Association. In 1925, she was advanced to a professorship, the first to be held at Westfield.

But within a year symptoms of depression reappeared and in 1929 she took early retirement. She lived until her death at 24 Hayes Crescent, Golders Green, following a stroke on 25 February 1951. She had inherited the large fortunes left by her father and brother William Henry Skeel (d. 1925, leaving over £305,000), the total of which amounted at her death to some £270,000 (gross). She bequeathed large sums to Church charities but she bequeathed the bulk of it to Westfield, already the beneficiary of gifts made anonymously during her lifetime. After her death it was revealed that she had anonymously given away in her lifetime about £30,000 to poor families and charities.

This subfonds contains the papers of the family of Caroline Skeel. This includes members of the Skeel, James, and Smith families, as well as property and family photographs.

Consists mainly of letters, wills, financial records, property papers, educational papers such as exam certificates and testimonials, and photographs.

ObjectPhotographPaperParchment

This subfonds is arranged by provenance and function. It consists of six series; Skeel, James, Smith, Property, Family Photographs, and Items of Unknown Context.

The Skeel and James families originate from Clarberston, Pembrokeshire, Wales. The families are interlinked through the marriage of cousins; Anne James and William James Skeel. The family owned several properties in London, and occupations include an export merchant (William James Skeel), apothecaries (David and Thomas Skeel and William James) and teachers (Emily Jane and Maria Elizabeth Skeel). The Smith family are likely to be relatives of the Skeel and James families.

Limited Administration

1 file

Limited administration of the goods chattels and credits of deceased Thomas Smith. 20 March 1809.

Begins with the history of the case from the filing of a Bill of Complaint in 1805, in response to the execution of the will of John Smith. Filed by Maria Smith (widow of deceased John Smith) and Roger Smith, against sons David, John and Thomas Smith, and daughter Patience Humphreys and her husband William Humphreys, William Warren, and the Governors and Company of the Bank of England.

After this bill has been dismissed, the document deals with the goods chattels and credits of Thomas Smith. Letters of administration are granted to Thomas Husband, a person named for the purpose by Maria and Roger Smith.
