The Blackboard Collaborate interface consists of the audio & video panel, participants panel and chat panel. Before starting any collaborate session you should have your audio and video configured to allow a successful session. A collaborate session provides you with various tools to allow students to interact with others throughout the session.

This tool allows for you to record your entire collaborate session and allow students to view at a later time. When you launch a new session you will automatically be asked if you would like to start your recording. If you wish to record at a later time in the session, click on the record button on the top right hand side. Once you are done with the recording, click on the record button again, you will be asked to confirm that you would like to stop the recording.

3. Participants Panel

This tool allows you to set permissions to restrict tools that participants are able to use. Global permissions give the participants access to all the tools (chatting, audio, video, chat, whiteboard, etc.) The global permissions are listed on the top. You can also provide individuals with more/less tools than other students. Those permissions would be listed next to the participant's name.

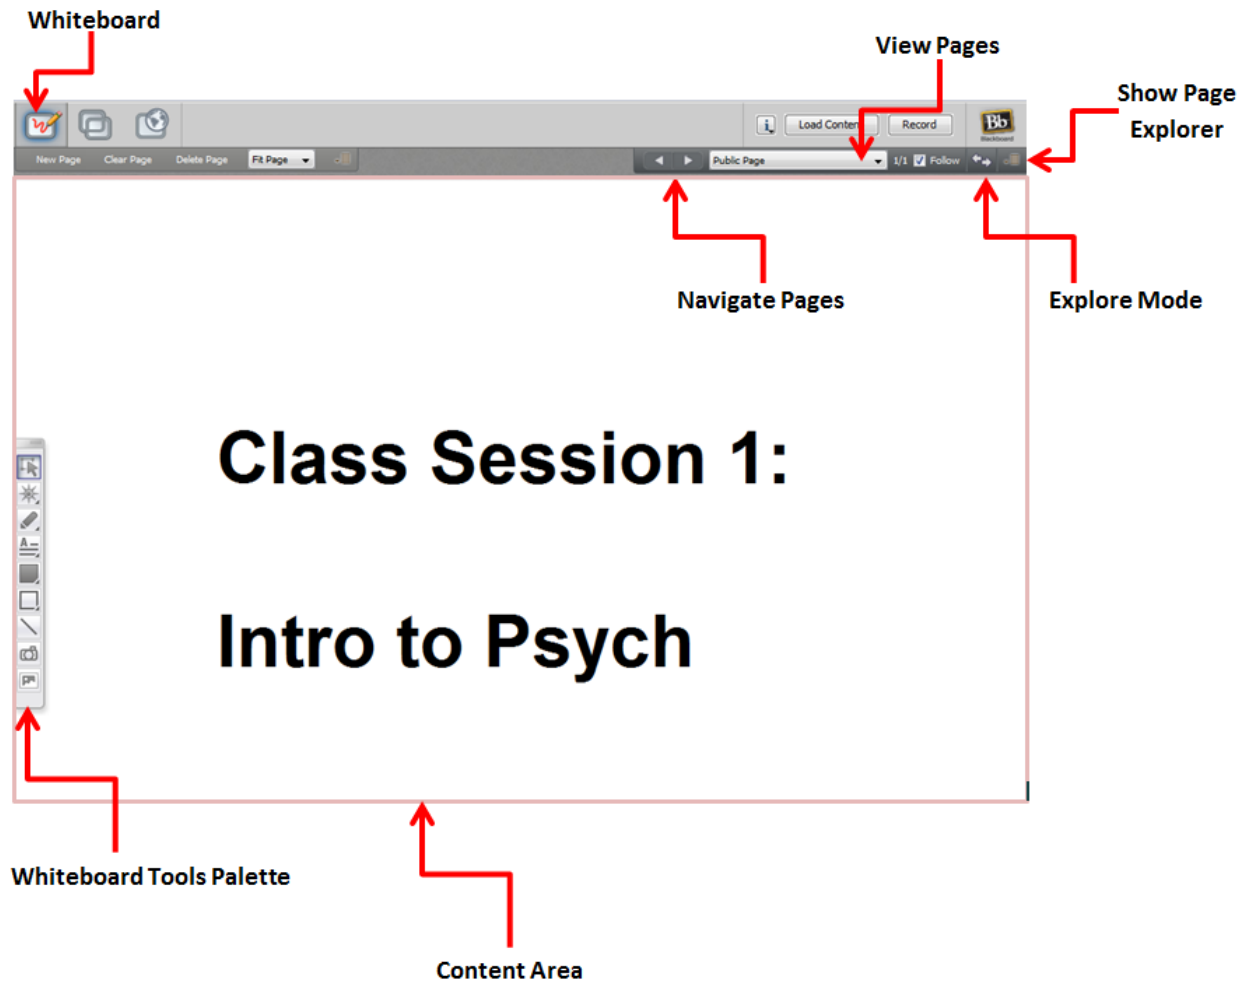

4. Chat Panel

This tool allows for participants and moderators to chat. You can have an open discussion (room tab) or you can double click on an individual to have a private chat. Tabs will be listed on the bottom of the chat panel for each conversation that is being held.

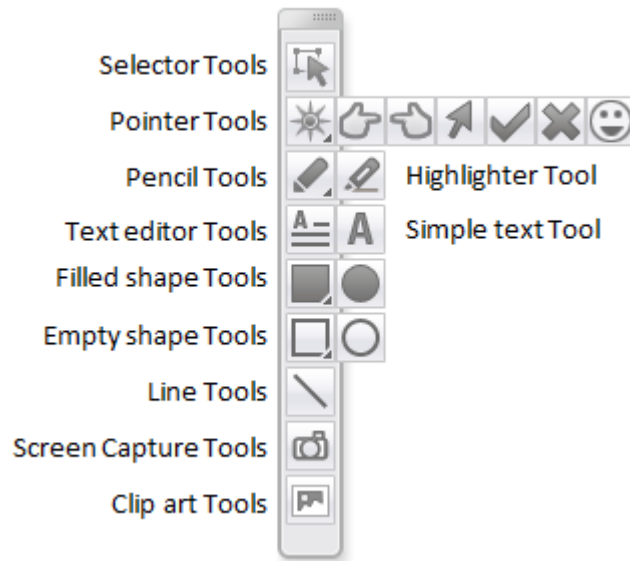

5. Whiteboard

The whiteboard feature is the content area of the session; any documents that were loaded to the session would appear here. You can have multiple pages per session. Before you exit your session you can save the whiteboard.
