

FOURTH ANNUAL KALANITHI AWARD

Stanford's Palliative Care Section is pleased to solicit unpublished short stories, essays or poems addressing patients and providers facing chronic or life limiting illness.

Paul Kalanithi passed too soon, but left a wonderful legacy in his bestselling memoir, When Breath Becomes Air. His creativity and commitment to finding meaning in the experience of illness inspired this award.

CONTEST RULES

Short Stories/Essays:

Less than 4000 words

Poems:

Less than 50 lines

Judges:

Stanford faculty including

Lucy Kalanithi and
Abraham Verghese

3 Winners:

Published in

Pegasus Review *

OPEN TO ALL

Stanford affiliates encouraged, but anybody can submit!

DUE DATE

December 1, 2019

SUBMIT TO

<https://thepegasusreview.submittable.com/submit/148495/2019-kalanithi-award-submissions>

AWARD

Honorarium made possible by the generosity of a Stanford Palliative
Care benefactor

*Subject to editorial review