Message from Our CEO

Spring is always a time of growth but this year it feels like we're bursting at the seams with positive news around the office and advancements to our customer experience!

As an office, we're growing our online presence with our recently rolled out Online Portal and our proprietary electronic time tracking system which will be released later this year. Both these tools will help our clients and customers access their information more quickly and make it easier for all of us to communicate and support each other.

We're growing here in Tampa too. Every month it seems we're hiring more dedicated team members to ensure we continue to give the exemplary service we're known for as we continue to handle more claims and touch more people's lives through Transition2Work.

And we're personally growing. From graduations to weddings, engagements and births, many of us have a lot to celebrate. I'm so happy for our entire ReEmployAbility family, we're all growing, and I'm proud for the opportunity to grow together!

Thank you for growing with us, together we're impacting communities across the country and helping thousands of injured workers, because we know that “anyone who is capable of something, can make an impact in the community where they live.”

Debra Livingston - CEO

The Impact of Transition2Work on a Person, a Community, and Around the World

Small locally run not-for-profits support a community’s most vulnerable populations and have an immense impact on the people whose lives they touch. What we often don’t see are the far-reaching effects of these small everyday acts of kindness, how a small thrift shop or one individual changes not only the community, but the world around them, for the better.

The Fort White Community Thrift Shop (FWCTS) in Fort White, Florida, is one of the many not-for-profits in our network. The small thrift shop not only serves their local community and surrounding Florida communities but has been able to send aid as far away as Puerto Rico for hurricane victims and has an ongoing commitment to help the less-fortunate in Guatemala with food, shelter, and clothing.

ReEmployAbility in the Community

The ReEmployAbility team participated in Keep Tampa Bay Beautiful at McKay Bay Nature Park in April.

After a muddy day in the mangroves, ReEmployAbility cleared over 100 bags of trash out of the park.

Introducing our New Client Portal for Easy Claims Management and Reporting

Customers utilizing our Transition2Work® program for return-to-work now have secure and convenient access to their claim information through the newly launched Online Portal.

The new Online Portal is easy to use and convenient, allowing users 24/7 access to their claim information, activity, and savings reports through ecommerce style features.

The Online Portal gives customers clear and easy-to-read views of all their claims and details by logging in to the portal’s Action Center at www.reemployability.com. The portal makes it easy to submit new referrals, access claim details like assignment location and schedule, and view customized reports on outcomes, savings, and performance in real time. Users can also contact each injured worker’s ReEmployAbility placement coordinator or request help regarding a specific claim at the click of button, making communication quick and easy.

The Online Portal is just one of the new advancements ReEmployAbility will be rolling out in 2019, making sure our partners have the advanced tools they need to help their employees return to work safely.

Contact Client Services today for your invitation to the Online Portal!
