UNIVERSITY HISTORY

Boston College is one of the twenty-five colleges and universities in the United States conducted by the Society of Jesus. The Boston College Law School is one of the thirteen American law schools conducted under the same auspices.* The university traditions of Boston College are the product of four centuries of educational idealism and practical experience of the Society of Jesus which, since its foundation in 1534 by Ignatius Loyola, has established and conducted institutions of higher learning in all parts of the world.

Boston College owes its inception to the foresight and energy of the scholarly John McElroy, S.J., Superior of the first Jesuit community in New England. This community, still located at old Saint Mary's in Boston, was founded in 1849. In 1857, in accordance with the Society's traditional devotion to higher education, Father McElroy secured land and erected a group of collegiate buildings on Harrison Avenue in Boston, the present site of the Boston College High School. He was assisted in this undertaking by a group of civic leaders headed by the Honorable Alexander H. Rice, then Mayor of Boston and later Governor of the Commonwealth. The formal opening of the College was delayed by the Civil War, and for a time the buildings were used as a House of Studies of the Society of Jesus.

Boston College was formally incorporated by an act of the Massachusetts Legislature approved by Governor John A. Andrew, April 1, 1863. The charter authorized the conferring of all degrees usually conferred by universities in the Commonwealth, except medical degrees. This single restriction upon its university charter was removed by legislative amendment, April 1, 1908. Formal instruction was commenced on September 5, 1864, under the presidency of John Bapst, S.J., and the deanship of Robert Fulton, S.J. In 1913, during the presidency of Thomas I. Gasson, S.J., the site of Boston College was transferred to the present extensive and beautiful campus at University Heights, Chestnut Hill, Newton. The buildings already erected there are universally acclaimed as outstanding monuments of Collegiate Gothic in the United States.

Since the transfer to University Heights, other schools have been added, by foundation or affiliation, to the original College of Arts and Sciences. The Graduate School of Arts and Sciences and the School of Business Administration are also located at University Heights. The College of Arts and Sciences Intown, the Law School, and the School of Social Work are conveniently located in downtown Boston. The College of Liberal Arts in Lenox is situated in the heart of the Berkshires. The School of Philosophy and Science, the School of Theology, and the Seismological Observatory are in Weston, Massachusetts.

*These institutions will be found listed on the inside back cover.

THE BOSTON COLLEGE LAW SCHOOL

In 1929, the Trustees of Boston College, with the active cooperation of eminent members of the bench and bar, established the Boston College Law School. Formal instruction was commenced on September 26, 1929, and the first class was graduated June 15, 1932. With the graduation of this first class the School was officially approved by the American Bar Association through its Section on Legal Education and Admission to the Bar. In 1937, the School was elected to membership in the Association of American Law Schools. Women students were admitted to the School in 1940. At present the School is located at 441 Stuart Street, Boston, a few steps from Copley Square and the Boston Public Library. The Massachusetts State Library, the federal, state and municipal courts are situated but a few minutes from the School.

PURPOSE AND METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

The purpose of the Boston College Law School is to prepare young men and women of intelligence, industry, and character for careers of public service in the administration of justice. With this objective, students are given a rigorous training in the principles and rules, the standards and technique of the law, not as ends in themselves, but as means to the attainment of justice in a society subject to constantly changing economic and social forces. The program of instruction is designed to equip the student to practise law wherever the Anglo-American system of law prevails. Hence, there is a thorough insistence upon the common law, although special attention is given to the law of Massachusetts, the other New England states, and New York state. Courses in public law are emphasized in accordance with the current development of American jurisprudence.

The case method of instruction, employed in all leading American law schools, has been followed from the foundation of the School. By this method the student is trained in the art of legal analysis and in the solution of legal problems by the same process of research and reasoning which he must use in his professional career. He is trained to analyze complicated facts, to discern therein the real issues of law and of fact, to discover scientifically the pertinent case and statute law, and to solve the legal problem by a logical and accurate application of the proper legal principles. All students are required to participate actively in the classroom discussion of cases, and are encouraged to confer with members of the Faculty at all times. Each first year student is assigned to a specific professor for the purpose of consultation and orientation. The importance of a thorough law school training is indicated in the following statement.

CHOOSING A LAW SCHOOL

The American Bar Association, through its Section on Legal Education and Admission to the Bar, has recently issued a statement for the guidance of young men and women who plan to study law. It is entitled "Choosing a Law School" and reads in part as follows:

Introduction

"The choice of a good law school is the most important decision which a young man or woman intending to enter the profession of law has to make before actually beginning the training for a legal career . . .

"It cannot be too strongly emphasized that students who are planning on being admitted to the bar should secure their training in an institution which is recognized by all state boards of bar examiners. Otherwise they may find themselves not qualified for admission in a state where they wish to practice. There are law schools in existence which do not measure up to the accepted standards of the profession and whose graduates are not eligible to take the bar examinations in about half of the states of the Union. These states sometimes make exceptions in favor of local schools. Students should most carefully consider the requirements of admission to the bar in other states before entering any law school which is not fully recognized.

Legal Education

"Preparation for the bar has changed in character and extent during the last third of a century even more than have the processes of general education . . . Today the importance of getting the best law school training available is widely recognized . . .

"For the young man or woman who has made the decision to become a lawyer or to gain admission to the bar for the sake of advancement in other fields, the question is no longer, 'How shall I get my legal training?' but rather, 'What law school shall I attend?' It is not possible to make any dogmatic answer to this query since the answer must depend on various factors which will differ in different cases, such as the finances of the student, the amount and nature of his pre-legal education, the time which he has to spend, his scholarship, and other things . . .

Academic Standards

"Every student who starts to study law should do so in a school approved by the American Bar Association, not only because those schools have been certified after careful examination as giving satisfactory training in accordance with accepted standards of the profession, but also because there are many states where training in unapproved schools is not recognized by the licensing authorities . . . Although the person who begins law study may have a definite idea where he intends to practice, circumstances may alter this intention even after he has finished his law school course and he should not allow himself, by attending an unapproved school, to be put into the position of being unable to be admitted to the bar in approximately half of the states of the Union . . .

Pre-Legal Education

"The American Bar Association has never made any recommendations as to the subjects to be studied in the pre-legal course, nor has the Association of American Law Schools set out any list of subjects. In general it will be agreed that English, history and some science are desirable ingredients of the pre-legal course. In the main, however, its purpose is to mature the mind and develop the thinking processes which are so important in every branch of law study. The pre-legal student should begin the cultivation of professional standards of study as soon as possible. The pre-law requirement of completion of half of the number of hours required for a Bachelor's degree is best fulfilled for law school purposes in a college of arts and sciences and should not include courses having little or no intellectual content, such as physical education, military drill, home economics, music, dancing, etc. Courses having to do with the law, such as business law, for example, are not considered as pre-legal courses . . .

Conclusion

"The student intending to begin the study of law should write to the clerk of the supreme court of the state where he expects to practice and secure a copy of the rules for admission to the bar in order that he may be sure that legal education will be such as to qualify him for admission in the state where he wishes to practice. In some cases registration with the board of bar examiners is required at the beginning of law study. Students who neglect to comply with the rules of admission may find themselves in difficulty when they seek to secure a license. The importance to the intending lawyer of enrolling in a good law school cannot be exaggerated. The choice of a school may have a vital bearing on the student's future career."

NOTE

Of the one hundred and seventy-six law schools in the United States, one hundred and eight are on the approved list of the American Bar Association. Of the one hundred and eight law schools so approved, ninety-five have attained to membership in the Association of American Law Schools. These two associations, representative of the highest idealism of the teaching and practising profession, have worked together for many years with efficiency and success in elevating the standards of legal education and practice in the United States.

ACADEMIC STANDARDS

The Boston College Law School is fully approved by the American Bar Association through its Section on Legal Education and Admission to the Bar. It is also a member of the Association of American Law Schools, which prescribes the following requirements for a member school:

1. It shall be a school not operated as a commercial enterprise, and the compensation of any officer or member of its teaching staff shall not depend on the number of students, nor on the fees received.

2. It shall require of all candidates for a degree, at the time of the commencement of their law study, the completion of one-half of the work acceptable for a Bachelor's degree granted on the basis of a four-year period of study by the state university or the principal colleges or universities in the state where the law school is located. A student's pre-legal work must have been passed with a scholastic average at least equal to the average required for graduation in institutions attended and such average shall be based upon all of the work undertaken by the student in his pre-law curriculum, exclusive of non-theory course in military science, hygiene, domestic arts, physical education, vocal or instrumental music or courses without intellectual content of substantial value.

3. It shall require its students to pursue a course of three years duration if they devote substantially all of their working time to their studies; and a course of four years duration, equivalent in the number of working hours, if they devote only part of their working time to their studies. (But confer "War Program", page 24).

4. It shall not accept for credit toward the first degree in law, with or without examination, work taken in an unapproved law school.

5. It shall own and maintain an adequate law library which shall be so housed and administered as to be readily available for use by students and faculty; and it shall employ a qualified librarian whose principal activities are devoted to the development and maintenance of an effective library service.

6. It shall have on its faculty a sufficient number of full-time professors who devote substantially all of their interest to the work of the school.

7. It shall be a school which possesses reasonably adequate facilities and which is conducted in accordance with those standards and practices generally recognized by member schools as essential to the maintenance of a sound educational policy. Hence, students previously disqualified on account of poor scholarship in any other law school shall not be admitted, except in unusual cases where the dean or faculty of the admitting school has reason to believe that the failure was occasioned by factors other than lack of capacity.

MORNING AND EVENING SESSION

The study of law is a difficult and exacting pursuit of the gravest individual and social importance. Hence, it is the policy of the School to urge all candidates to enroll in the Morning Session, which is designed for students who devote substantially all of their working time to their studies. Classes in the Morning Session are conducted daily from Monday through Friday.

For the benefit of those who find it impossible to devote their full time to the study of law, the School conducts an Evening Session, which is substantially equivalent to the Morning Session in its program of instruction, in the personnel of its faculty, and in the total number of class hours. The character of examinations and the grading standards are the same for both Morning and Evening Sessions. For the purpose of conserving the maximum time for study, classes in the Evening Session are concentrated on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

THE LAW LIBRARY

The main Law Library, recently remodelled and enlarged, now contains more than twenty-four thousand volumes. It has been growing rapidly and, as in the past, substantial additions will be made each year. The Law Library includes several sets of Massachusetts and United States Reports, the reports of the other New England states, the reports of all other state courts of last resort up to the National Reporter System, the Illinois Appellate Courts Reports, the entire National Reporter System; the English Reports Full Reprint, the Law Reports, the All England Law Reports; and the annotated reports, such as American Decisions, American Reports, American State Reports, Lawyers' Reports Annotated, American and English Annotated Cases, American Law Reports, English Ruling Cases, and the Lawyers' Edition of the United States Supreme Court Reports. The Library also contains the reports and decisions of administrative bodies, such as the Board of Tax Appeals, the Federal Communications Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the National Labor Relations Board, the Public Utilities Reports, and the Decisions of the Commissioner of Patents.

In its section of statutory material, the Library contains the Massachusetts Statutes, the Annotated Laws of Massachusetts, the United States Statutes at Large, the United States Code Annotated, the Uniform Laws Annotated, the statutes of the New England states and a large number of other states, the Statutes at Large and the Public General Statutes of England. The standard legal digests and encyclopedias are available, such as the American Digest, the Massachusetts Digest, the Supreme Court Digest, the English and Empire Digest, American Jurisprudence, Ruling Case Law, Corpus Juris and Corpus Juris Secundum, Halsbury's Laws of England and the Canadian Abridgment. In addition, the Law Library contains a large collection of standard non-legal works and books of reference; it is a depository of the works on International Law of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

The Library is supervised by a full-time librarian and two assistant librarians. It is open from 9:00 A.M. to 10:30 P.M., Monday through Friday; 10:00 A.M. to 6:00 P.M. on Saturday; 1:00 P.M. to 6:00 P.M. on Sunday.

In addition to the Law Library, the General Library of Boston College, situated at University Heights, which contains approximately one hundred and seventy thousand volumes, is available to the students of the Law School. Students have easy access to the Public Library of the City of Boston, which contains more than two million volumes, and to the Massachusetts State Library of more than six hundred thousand volumes.

THE JAMES B. CARROLL READING ROOM

Additional library facilities are available to the students of the Boston College Law School through the generosity of Mrs. Mary E. Carroll of Springfield, who donated to the School the entire personal law library of her late husband, Associate Justice James B. Carroll of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts. This large collection, valuable for its content and its memories, is now shelved in a special room adjoining the main Law Library and designated as the James B. Carroll Reading Room. A large oil painting of the late Mr. Justice Carroll is enshrined in the midst of the books which he used so skillfully and devotedly during his seventeen years on the supreme judicial tribunal of Massachusetts. The James B. Carroll Reading Room is open to students daily except Sunday.

During the past year the Library was augmented through the generosity of the following: The Honorable Charles J. Brown, The Honorable Thomas H. Eliot, Mrs. Richard R. Flynn, Miss Mary H. Gilligan, Mr. John E. Hannigan, Mr. N. J. Hasenfus, The New England Power Company, Mr. Lowell S. Nicholson, The Right Reverend Monsignor Richard J. Quinlan, and Mr. Thomas M. Reynolds.

THE LAW CLUBS

An important supplement to the formal academic instruction is provided by the Law Clubs and the Bostonia Competition. The purpose of the law clubs is to give the student practical instruction and experience in the analysis of legal problems, the use of law books, and the preparation and presentation of cases before an appellate court. Membership is voluntary but all students are urged to participate in the law club work because of the valuable training and experience derived therefrom.

Students taking part in such work are divided into small groups comprising the various law clubs, and are assigned cases for preparation and argumentation throughout the year. In these arguments the clubs oppose one another, and the cases are heard and decided by practising attorneys who serve as Law Club Instructors.

THE BOSTONIA COMPETITION

The assignment of cases to the various law clubs is part of a competitive scheme which, by a process of elimination, culminates in the final argument of the Bostonia Competition. The final argument each year is conducted in public before a court comprised of Justices of State and Federal courts.

THE NISI PRIUS CLUB

The Nisi Prius Club further supplements formal classroom instruction by providing a forum for discussion of the law in action. Bi-monthly meetings are conducted at which addresses are delivered by members of the judiciary, administrative officials, and practising attorneys. An open discussion period follows each address. Special attention is devoted to the practise and procedure of courts and administrative agencies. Membership in the Club is open to students of all classes.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council affords a ready means of contact between the student body, the alumni, and the Faculty of the Law School. It provides an opportunity for consultation with the Faculty on all matters affecting the interests and welfare of the student body. Its membership is determined partly by academic standing and partly by election, being composed of the highest ranking students in each class together with the presidents thereof. Members of the Student Council for the academic year 1942-1943 will be found listed on page 13.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Candidates for admission to the Boston College Law School must be at least eighteen years of age and must:

1. Possess a Bachelors Degree from an approved college or university, or
2. Have completed at least one-half the work acceptable for a Bachelors Degree in an approved college or university. Such work must have been performed with a scholastic average at least equal to the average required for a degree in the institution attended.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

A limited number of applicants, who cannot fulfill the above admission requirements, may be admitted as special students in the discretion of the Committee on Admissions. Such applicants must be high school graduates and at least twenty-three years of age. They must advance substantial reasons for a well-grounded expectation that their informal training and experience have equipped them adequately to pursue the study of law. They must take the entire course under the same standards and conditions as regularly matriculated students. Special students may not be candidates for a degree but, upon the successful completion of their course, they will be awarded a Certificate in Law. Special students, who lack two years of college work, may not take the bar examination in Massachusetts unless they began the study of law prior to September 1, 1938.

AUDITORS

A limited number of persons who desire to take specified courses in the law school curriculum, without being candidates for a degree or a certificate, may be admitted to such courses in the discretion of the Dean. No credit of any kind, however, will be certified for such work.

ADVANCED STANDING

Admission to upper classes will be permitted to an applicant who, being qualified for admission to the Law School under the general rule for regular students, has successfully completed the first or second year of study while in full attendance at a member law school of the Association of American Law Schools or at a law school approved by the American Bar Association. The amount of credit granted for such previous study will be determined entirely by the Committee on Admissions. At least two complete terms will be required in residence at the Boston College Law School immediately preceding the award of a degree.

ADMISSION PROCEDURE

Applicants for admission to the Boston College Law School should communicate with the Secretary, Boston College Law School, 441 Stuart Street, Boston. Application forms and complete information regarding entrance requirements will then be furnished.

1. Application must be made in writing upon the official form.

2. Official transcripts of all collegiate and professional study must be sent directly to the Registrar of the Boston College Law School by the Registrar of the institution in which such work has been done.

3. The registration fee of five dollars must be paid before formal action will be taken on the application. This fee will be refunded if the application is denied.

4. A personal interview may be required by the Committee on Admissions before an application is accepted.

5. If the application is accepted, the student must register personally at the Registrar's office before the date indicated in this Bulletin. An added fee of five dollars will be charged for late registration.

EXAMINATIONS AND GRADES

Scholastic standing is determined by written examinations conducted at the end of each term. Examinations are graded according to the following scale: A, 75 or over; B, 70-74; C, 65-69; D, 60-64; E, 55-59; F, 54 or below. To gain credit in any course a student must attain grade D or higher. E and F are deficiency grades, E indicating a condition and F a failure.

A student who receives a general average of F in his courses for the year will be automatically excluded from the School. A student who receives a general average of E will be automatically ineligible for advancement to a higher class and, in the discretion of the Faculty, may be excluded from the School. A student who receives a general average of low D and who incurs one deficiency will be eligible to advance to the next class on probation. A student who incurs more than one deficiency may be, in the discretion of the Faculty, excluded from the School, declared ineligible for advancement, or placed on probation.

A student declared ineligible for advancement must repeat courses in which he is deficient and, in the discretion of the Faculty, may be required to repeat or take other courses; having completed such work satisfactorily, he may advance to the next higher class on probation. A student who has been declared ineligible for advancement or on probation and who incurs a further deficiency may, in the discretion of the Faculty, be excluded from the School.

Subject to the provisions of the preceding paragraphs, a student who receives grade F in any course must repeat that course by attending the classes and passing the next regular examination therein. A student who receives grade E in any course must remove the condition by passing the next regular examination in that course. Any grade below D incurred in a deficiency examination constitutes a failure. A student who repeats a course or takes a condition examination must fulfill the current requirements of the course. No special examinations are conducted at any time.

ATTENDANCE

Regular attendance at all classes is required. Attendance is recorded and for excessive absences students may be refused the right to take examinations. No student while in attendance at this School shall be registered in any other school or college or in any other department of Boston College without the written consent of the Dean.

The Faculty reserves the right to change the program of instruction, the requirements for credits and degrees, and all regulations affecting the student body. Such changes may be made applicable to students already enrolled.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

The Trustees of Boston College confer the degree of Bachelor of Laws on candidates recommended by the Faculty of the Law School. Such candidates must have completed satisfactorily the work prescribed by the Law Faculty. The required period of residence, in normal times, is three years for students of the Morning Session and four years for students of the Evening Session. In accordance with the provisions of the War Program, outlined below, the calendar time of required residence has been reduced to two years for students of the Morning Session and to three years for students of the Evening Session. In case of students granted advanced standing by the Committee on Admissions, at least two full terms of work are required in residence at the Boston College Law School immediately preceding the award of a degree. Courses leading to the graduate degrees of Master of Laws and Doctor of Juridical Science have not yet been established.

HONORS

Degrees with honors earned in course will be awarded as follows: summa cum laude to students having a general average of 80 or over, provided they have maintained an average of 75 in each year of the law course; magna cum laude to students having a general average of 77-79, provided they have maintained an average of 75 in each year; cum laude to students having a general average of 73-76, provided they have maintained an average of 70 in each year.

THE WAR PROGRAM

In order to ameliorate the difficulties of war-time study of law, the Trustees of Boston College have approved, for the duration of the war, the following recommendations of the Faculty of the Law School:

THREE TERM ACADEMIC YEAR

1. The required calendar time of resident study is hereby shortened to two years in the Morning Session and to three years in the Evening Session. In accordance therewith, the academic year 1942-1943 will begin September 1, 1942, and end July 9, 1943. This will avoid the extreme heat of the latter part of July and the entire month of August, which seems incompatible with energetic classroom work and profitable study. The academic year will be divided into a Fall, Winter and Spring Term; each term will consist of fifteen weeks of classroom instruction. The full law course may be completed in six terms (two calendar years) in the Morning Session, and in nine terms (three calendar years) in the Evening Session. (For 1943-1944, see page 5.)

WITHDRAWALS

2. In accordance with the Emergency Resolutions of the Association of American Law School, a student who, because of actual entry into the armed forces of the United States, is unable to take the regular examinations of a scholastic term, may be granted credit for such term, provided:

- a) he has satisfactorily completed at least two full terms,
- b) his present scholastic standing is satisfactory,
- c) he has attended class for more than one-half the term in question,
- d) his classroom work during this period has been of a satisfactory quality,
- e) he passes whatever special examinations may be prescribed in his case,
- f) and provided that the Faculty, after a consideration of his entire record and all pertinent circumstances, so decides. Such credit is a matter of discretion and not of right.

3. If any student is compelled to withdraw from the School by the operation of the Selective Service Act, or voluntarily withdraws to enlist in the armed forces of the United States, the entire tuition for any incompleted and uncredited term will be refunded to him.

4. A student who withdraws on account of serious illness shall be given a return of tuition paid in an amount depending upon the date of his withdrawal. Formal notice of withdrawal, together with doctor's certificate, must be filed at the office. In case of extraordinary conditions necessitating withdrawal due consideration will be given to each case.

5. Students who withdraw to enter the armed forces of the United States without completing their law course will be permitted, when honorably discharged from the service, to resume their work as far as possible and without delay at the point of interruption. The curriculum in future years will be constructed to facilitate this purpose.

EXPENSES

Registration. A registration fee of $5 is charged to students entering the School for the first time. This fee must be paid before formal action is taken upon the application. It will be refunded if the application is denied.

Tuition. The tuition for regular students of the Morning Session is $120 per term; for regular students of the Evening Session, $90 per term. The tuition for auditors and unclassified students who do not take the regular course is $12 per credit hour.

Graduation. A graduation fee of $15 is charged to senior students one month before the end of the final term. This fee will be refunded if the student should fail to graduate.

SCHOLARSHIPS

The following scholarships to the Boston College Law School are regularly available to students of outstanding ability:

The John B. Creeden, S.J., Scholarships, established in honor of the eminent Jesuit educator whose initiative was chiefly instrumental in the founding of the Boston College Law School. These two scholarships are available to graduates of Boston College. One is a full scholarship, the other a one-half scholarship, both to the Morning Session of the School.

Two similar scholarships to the Morning Session are available to graduates of the College of the Holy Cross in Worcester, Massachusetts.

A scholarship of two hundred dollars to the second-year morning student with the highest academic standing for his first year, provided his general average is B or better; and a scholarship of seventy-five dollars to each of the two second-year evening students with the highest academic standings during the first year, provided their general average is B or better.

THE RED MASS

The origin of the Red Mass is obscured by its antiquity. It is the Solemn Votive Mass of the Holy Spirit, celebrated at the beginning of the judicial year, and attended by judges and lawyers of all faiths for the purpose of invoking God's blessing and guidance in the administration of justice. Its traditional name, the Red Mass, is probably derived from the color of the vestments worn by the officers of the Mass. The robes of the attending justices were, in ancient days, bright scarlet. Moreover, the prayer of the Mass beseeches the aid of the Holy Spirit, symbolized by the flaming fire of Divine Love and Wisdom.

The tradition of the Red Mass goes back many centuries in Rome, Paris and London. From time immemorial this beautiful ceremony has officially opened the judicial year of the Sacred Roman Rota. During the reign of Louis IX, Saint Louis of France, La Sainte Chappelle was designated as the proper setting for the service. This magnificent edifice, erected in 1246, was used but once during the year and then for the Red Mass. The custom in England began in the Middle Ages and, even during the present war, English judges and lawyers of all faiths attend the Red Mass annually in Westminster Cathedral.

In the United States the tradition was inaugurated in 1928 in New York City, where the Guild of Catholic Lawyers meets annually with judges and members of law faculties for the Votive Mass in old Saint Andrew's Church in the shadow of the towering State and Federal courts. Since then the Red Mass has been celebrated annually in California, Illinois, New York, Pennsylvania, the District of Columbia, and now in Massachusetts, attended by justices of the highest courts in the land and by men of all religious faiths.

THE RED MASS IN NEW ENGLAND

Under the sponsorship of His Eminence, William Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, the Boston College Law School was honored and privileged to introduce this ancient and colorful ceremony to New England on Saturday, October 4, 1941. Fifteen hundred distinguished members of the bench and bar filled the beautiful Church of the Immaculate Conception in Boston for the occasion. The Mass was celebrated by the Very Reverend William J. Murphy, S.J., President of Boston College; the address was delivered by the Reverend William J. Kenealy, S.J., Dean of the Boston College Law School.

The Second Annual Red Mass in New England was conducted under the same auspices in the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Boston, Saturday, October 3, 1942. The Mass was celebrated by the Reverend William J. Kenealy, S.J., Dean of the Boston College Law School. The address was delivered by the Reverend John C. Ford, S.J., of Weston College.

The Third Annual Red Mass in New England will be celebrated in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, in Boston, Saturday, October 2, 1943.
