

MODULE 1

REFERENCE BOOKS

1. Most of the material in this chapter has been taken from the book “Analysis and Design of Information Systems” and the accompanying Self-Study guide written by V.Rajaraman and published by Prentice Hall of India, new Delhi (2002) (Permission of publisher taken).
2. The following books have a good treatment of Information Systems:
 - (i) Systems Analysis and Design, by K.E.Kendall and J.E.Kendall, Pearson Education (Asia) India reprint 2003
Chapter 1 pp.1 to 4 and Chapter 2 pp. 29 to 45 deal with the topic of understanding organizations. The examples are more relevant to U.S.A. rather than our country.
 - (ii) Modern System Analysis and Design, by J.A.Hoffer, George J.F. and Valacich J.S., Pearson Education (Asia) Indian Reprint 2002.
pp.15-17 have a very short treatment of what we give in Module 1
 - (iii) Information Systems Today by LiJessup and J.Valacich, Prentice Hall of India, 2003.
Chapter 6, pp.168 to 198 deal with organizational structure.
 - (iv) Management Information Systems (The Manager’s View), by R.Schultheis and M.Sumners, Tata McGraw Hill, 1999.
Part III pp.356 to 457 have a very detailed discussion of operational, tactical and strategic management and appropriate information systems.
 - (v) Management Information Systems, by K.E.Laudon and J.P.Laudon, Pearson Education Asia, Indian Reprint 2004.
Chapter 2, pp. 36 to 71 cover the topics discussed in Module in great detail.