HARVARD
GRADUATE SCHOOL OF EDUCATION FINANCIAL AID OFFICE

Supplemental Loan Comparison Guide

Students are encouraged to consider all options when choosing a supplemental educational loan. It is important to research and compare each option in detail so you select the best possible product for your individual needs. The options listed below highlight the basic characteristics of some lenders used by HGSE students; as such these are not "preferred lenders" and students are not required to borrow through the lenders included on this chart. It is important to note that HGSE participates in the Federal Direct Loan Program and the Federal Direct Graduate PLUS Loan is part of this program. These loans were included based on their accessibility to a variety of students, interest rate options, credit criteria, financial management tools and repayment options. Please refer to the specific lender's website for comprehensive information regarding their loan program. This is only a small sample of educational lenders available and you are encouraged to explore other sources of supplemental financing not listed on the comparison chart. Harvard University and the Harvard Graduate School of Education have no financial interest in which supplemental loan you choose to borrow. These examples are reviewed and updated annually.

|  | Federal Direct Graduate PLUS Loan |
| :---: | :---: |
| Loan Amount Min/Max | $100/Cost of Attendance minus Financial Aid |
| Cumulative Debt Limit | None |
| Loan Type | Fixed Rate |
| Interest Rate | 6.31\% |
| Loan Fees (based on total amount borrowed) | 4.276\% - deducted from loan amount borrowed |
| Payment Deferment/ Grace Period | While enrolled +6 month grace period after you cease to be enrolled at least half-time |
| Standard Repayment Period | 10 years standard |
| Additional Repayment Plans | Graduated, extended, income-based, and pay-as-you-earn plans may also be available depending on the borrower. |
| Misc. Benefits | Borrowers may be eligible for loan forgiveness for certain public service careers |
| Notes | Borrow directly from the US Department of Education, a non-profit entity; various Federal protections for financial hardship |
| Citizenship Eligibility | US Citizen or permanent residents |
| Credit Requirement | Credit Worthiness (co-signer option available if needed due to adverse credit) |
| Application/Contact Information | Available at www.studentloans.gov and available in late June |

Supplemental Loan Comparisons - Choosing the Best Option to Suit Your Individual Needs

The following information will cover these main topics:
$\Rightarrow$ Federal vs. Private Supplemental Loans
$\Rightarrow$ Citizenship Requirements
$\Rightarrow$ Credit Requirements
$\Rightarrow$ The Impact of Your Credit
$\Rightarrow$ Your Expectation of Interest Rates
$\Rightarrow$ Your Risk Tolerance
$\Rightarrow \quad$ Pros and Cons of Fees
$\Rightarrow$ Repayment Incentives
$\Rightarrow$ Logistics of Repayment
$\rightarrow$ Total Cost

Federal vs. Private Supplemental Loans

$\Rightarrow$ A variety of repayment plans to help manage your payment amounts and budget
$\Rightarrow$ Unlimited deferment while enrolled in school at least $1 / 2$ time in a degree-granting program
$\Rightarrow$ Protections should you become permanently and totally disabled
$\Rightarrow$ The option of forbearance during temporary periods of financial hardship
$\Rightarrow$ The possibility of loan forgiveness and/or cancellation for certain public service careers

Citizenship Requirements

Your citizenship status will have an impact on which loan program you can borrow through:
$\Rightarrow$ As a domestic or permanent resident student, you can borrow through any loan program.

Credit Requirements

In general the Graduate PLUS credit review is less stringent than the private supplemental loan credit review. The bullets below give you more details regarding credit requirements.

 canceling a credit card. If you need tips on improving your credit score, refer to the credit section of our website or go to www.annualcreditreport.com. BACK TO TOPICS

The Impact of Your Credit

Your credit could impact your interest rate and the program through which you can borrow.

[^0]
Your Expectation of Interest Rates

 benefit of a variable interest rate loan is that the interest rate could go down during the life of a loan and save you money in the long run.
 The benefit of a fixed interest rate loan is that you lock in the current rate for the life of the loan. BACK TO TOPICS

Your Risk Tolerance

Are you someone who can tolerate fluctuations in your monthly payment amount?

 of loan can help you better manage your money. BACK TO TOPICS

Pros and Cons of Fees

$\Rightarrow$ Pros: If the fee enables you to lock in a low, fixed interest rate, you may be better off in the long run if interest rates increase.
$\Rightarrow$ Cons: If you pay a fee to take out a loan you may be paying extra costs especially if you pay the loan off early.
 amount by the lender prior to disbursement.

| Lender | Fee | Divide desired loan amount by: |
| :--- | :---: | :---: |
| Federal Direct Grad PLUS | $4.276 \%$ | 0.957 |

For example:

- You want to borrow a net amount of $$ 10,000$.
- There is a $4.276 \%$ fee taken prior to disbursement.
- You should apply for $$ 10,000 / 0.957$, or about $$ 10,450$.

Most other supplemental loan types add the fee to the original loan amount and, therefore, you will not have to increase the amount you borrow to cover the fees. BACK TO TOPICS

Repayment Incentives

Are you planning on paying your loans off in the first few years after graduating?
$\Rightarrow$ If so, an interest rate reduction after 4 years of on-time payments may not be a true benefit to you as your loan will already be paid off in full.

 factors and not only the repayment incentives. BACK TO TOPICS

Logistics of Repayment

Are you someone who would prefer to have as few lenders as possible for your federal and supplemental loans?
 one payment each month for the loans through that lender.
 advantage of the best interest rates and repayment incentives. BACK TO TOPICS

Total Cost

 you. BACK TO TOPICS

[^0]:    $\Rightarrow$ If you have excellent credit, some lenders will offer you a better rate.
    $\Rightarrow$ If you have poor credit, you can try to apply for a Graduate PLUS Loan since the credit criteria is not as stringent as a private loan.
    $\Rightarrow$ If you are denied a Graduate PLUS Loan, you may apply with a creditworthy endorser (co-signer) or you will need to apply to a different private supplemental loan program.
    $\Rightarrow$ If you fail the credit check of any private loan program you may be required to reapply with a co-applicant or co-signer. BACK TO TOPICS

